ALPHONSIAN ACADEMY

The Alphonsian Academy is a Postgraduate Institute of Moral Theology, founded in 1949 by the Redemptorists. Since 1960 it has been incorporated into the Pontifical Lateran University, within the Faculty of Theology.

Inspired by St. Alphonsus M. de Liguori, who strove to renew moral theology in his time, and in harmony with the Magisterium of the Church, as expressed especially in the Second Vatican Council, the Alphonsian Academy seeks the fullest human and Christian knowledge about humankind. Rooted always in the salvific Mystery of Christ the Redeemer, the Academy promotes the value and meaning of human life by discerning the norms for human behaviour in the individual, in the family, in civil society and in religious faith.

Over 5.000 students who have been trained in the Academy give vital witness to the pastoral and doctrinal worth of the Institute.

Lectures and seminars are usually held in Italian.
